Foreword

We of the WINNESHIEK staff sincerely hope that you will be able to add this 1950 WINNESHIEK to your collection with the same feelings of pride that you have always had in the past. Although this year's book is not bound in a padded cover, we believe that it is the contents of a book that really matter. We hope that you agree with the old rule, "Never judge a book by its cover."

The beautiful MISSISSIPPI River which borders the city of La Crosse inspired our theme, depicting the heyday of the river boats on the MISSISSIPPI.

As the law making body of the school, the Student Council has proposed and passed many laws for the benefit of the entire student body. These are written and executed by student members.

One of their major projects of 1950 was acquiring locks to prevent stealing from lockers. The locks were rented for a fee of twenty-five cents a semester. The use of these combination locks has decreased the amount of stealing.

Another important project undertaken by the Council was the grass problem. Since many of the students had been cutting across the lawn and sitting on it during the noon hour, the Council found it necessary to strengthen the school laws against this.

Two Care packages were sent at Christmas. One was sent to Holland and the other to Germany. Money was collected from the student body for the Veterans Hospital at Tomah.

One of the most spectacular projects of the Student Council is the annual Spring Prom. The Council decides on the manner of selecting the king, the theme, and the orchestra. They join with the Art Club to handle the decorations.

After a big political rally last spring, the new Student Council officers were elected. These students were to take over their duties the following September. Merlin Eggen defeated Kenneth Wittenberg for the presidency. Other winners were Jim Wartinbee, vice president; Virginia Nelson, secretary; Tom Zunker treasurer; Russell Cleary, Senior High Representative; and Barbara McCann, Junior High Representative.

Mr. Carl Matthusen has been the adviser of the organization throughout this year.

The response from Logan students in regard to Debate has been good this year, and plans have been made for a more extensive schedule next year. Debate was introduced at Logan this year in an effort to expand speech activities in the school.

During the first season, the debaters met teams from Black River Falls, Tomah, Blair, Arcadia, Richland Center, Eau Claire, and La Crosse. During the early part of the season the squads observed debating in neighboring schools as a part of their elementary instruction.

Eight students have represented Logan at debate tournaments of whom four were on the "A" team and four on the "B" team. Making up a team are two negative and two affirmative speakers.

The "A" team won six of the twelve debates in which it participated. Three of these victories were won at the Annual Tomah Debate Tournament and three at the La Crosse State Teachers College. The "B" team participated in four debates at the district meet, winning three and losing one. It tied for first place with Tomah at this meet in the "B" division debates.

In addition to those entering tournaments, other students worked with "A" and "B" teams collecting and organizing material and participating in practice debates at school.

An effort has been made to interest younger students in debate work. Several meetings of ninth and tenth graders have been held to encourage participation in this new speech activity at Logan.

The national debate question discussed this year was, Resolved: That the president of the United States should be elected by the direct vote of the people.

The debate activities at Logan have been under the direction of Mr. Daniel B. Hoyt, social science instructor.

Forum

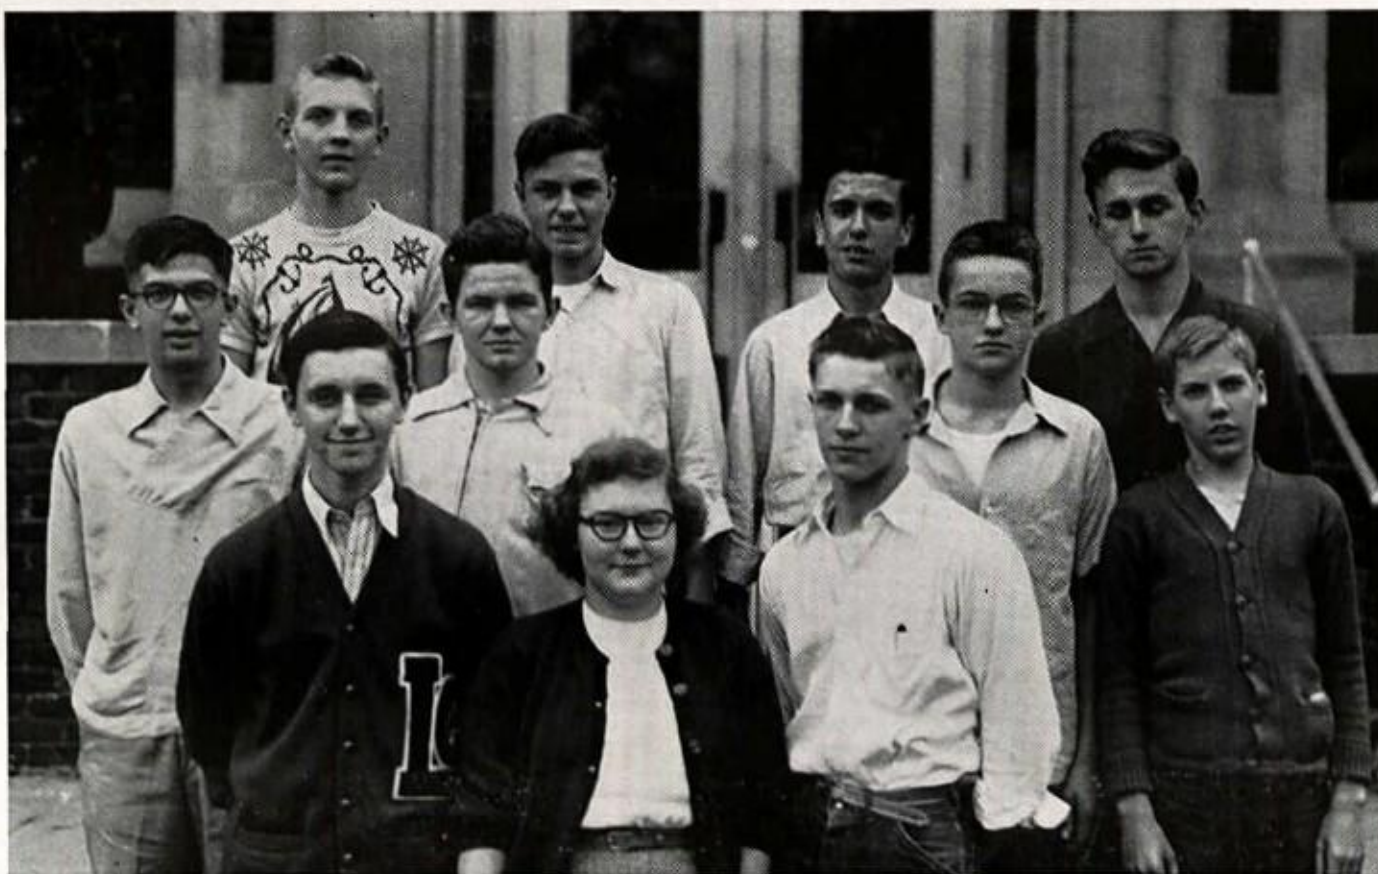

Alterations in the Student Forum constitution were made during the first few meetings of the school year by the members, most of whom were one year veterans, and the new Forum adviser, Mr. D. B. Hoyt. Establishment of a more workable constitution made it easier for the organization to develop an effective program.

The Logan Forum is a school organization which joins with other high school groups to discuss city, state, national and world affairs. Student members study current news so that they may arrive at an understanding of the pros and cons of today's problems. For example, this year, interesting meetings were held on such controversial subjects as the efficiency of the mayor and manager types of city government, and the Taft-Hartley Act.

The Logan Forum has many friendly meetings for its own members. At these meetings, dues are collected, officers are elected, and preparations for the tri-school meets are made.

Opportunities to make new friends, to become better public speakers, and to become proficient in discussion methods which are a vital part of our democratic processes are offered to members of the Forum.

Editors at work

Producing a yearbook the size of the WINNESHIEK is a more difficult task than the average student realizes. This year's book has been no exception. The work that has gone into the 1950 WINNESHIEK has been long and hard.

This book is a record of one year at Logan from early September to June and is as complete and accurate as painstaking effort can make it. Richard McCown, as editor-in-chief, has supervised its entire production.

The editor-in-chief has had many able assistants. One of these was Russell Cleary, the composition editor. He and his staff had the responsibility of seeing that the pictures were cut and pasted up.

Marilyn Schick, the write-up editor, checked to see that her staff wrote up the copy for the year book. She prepared the copy for the printer.

The boys' sports editor, Jerry Severson, had many new ideas for the sports section while Dorothy Loughan, the girls' sports editor, saw that the girls sport activities were covered.

Jean Gilbert and Joyce Dikeman were the Business Managers under the direction of Mr. Edwin Saenger. They raised a great deal of money for the annual.

The photographers, Bert Phillips, Jerry Weis, and Rich Maringer, took action shots.

The art editor, Ken Wittenberg, drew all of the division page pictures.

A member of Miss Helen Gilson's stenography class, Janice Olson, did much of the typing for the book.

Regular reporters are selected from the senior high school. Home room reporters are chosen from both the junior and senior high schools. New reporters are designated as "Cubs" while the experienced are called "Star Reporters."

Cub reporters this year were: Ronald Biehl, Barbara Briggs, Jenette Cram, Eugene Danielson, Susan Fingerhut, James Gutzke, Donna Mittlebach, Janice Merwin and Wayne Paulson.

Star reporters were: Russell Cleary, Donald Kowalke, Anne Fletcher, Virginia Nelson and Christine Erlandson.

Miss Patricia Mahoney and Mr. Edwin Saenger are the publication advisers.

Practical experience in reporting, editing and feature writing is given to members of the LOG staff. This experience is gained by the publishing of a monthly edition of the school newspaper, the Logan LOG.

Outstanding members of the LOG are invited to join Quill and Scroll, an international society for high school journalists. Students who meet the necessary requirements are allowed to submit a printed sample of their writing to the Quill and Scroll for approval. If the story is good enough, that reporter is accepted as a permanent member of the organization.

This year the LOG had co-editors. They were Charlene Widener and Georgia Wright. The boys' sports editor was Russell Cleary and the business managers were Jean Gilbert and Joyce Dikeman.

Four entirely different types of production were on the agenda of the dramatic department during the 1949 and 1950 season. A variety-minstrel show, a mid-year play, a Christmas program, and the Senior Class play all challenged the Logan thespians, directed by Mr. John Harlan.

Especially intriguing was the new show added this year, a variety-minstrel. This was given in November with a cast of one hundred and twenty-five. The program consisted of two parts, the first of which was a series of acts presented by Logan students, while the second part was a black-face show produced by the members of the Senior Choir. The minstrel group sang "Oh

Susana," "Down by the Old Mill Stream," "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," and "Down by the Station."

The faculty committee consisted of Mr. James Coates, Mr. John Harlan, Mr. Daniel Hoyt, Miss Ardith Inman, Mr. Frank Italiano, Miss Eloda Rumsey and Mr. Burton Smith.

Mid-Year Play

"A Full House" was the title of the mid-year play which was given just before school closed for Christmas vacation. The story was about a newly married couple, played by Dorothy Lowell and Dick McCown. Dick went on a trip to do a favor for a friend of his, played by Tom Zunker, and mistakenly came back with the suitcase

Reading the proclamation in the Christmas play are T. Zunker and F. Turmo.

Dick Johnson, Don Plapp, and Bob Figgie were the not too bright policemen who were ready to arrest everyone but the real thief. Darlene Anderson played the owner of the apartment and Lenore Haefner played the owner of the stolen jewels.

CHRISTMAS PLAY

The 1949 Christmas program included a one act play entitled "The Innkeeper." Tom Zunker and Faye Turmo played the innkeeper and his wife. Their sick daughter became well on the first Christmas after seeing the miracle of the Christmas star. Richard Johnson was a courier for Caesar while Kenneth Wittenberg was the rich man who would have nothing but the best.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

OFFICE PAGES

Office pages at Logan have long been a real part of the office administration. When the office force wants to send passes and announcements to the classrooms, these girls are the willing messengers. Special assignments such as showing school guests to the office or particular rooms, or carrying packages to the various parts of the building are also included in the services of these girls.

Choosing the office pages is the duty of Mrs. D. Terpstra, the dean of girls. She bases her choice on courtesy and efficiency. Since these girls are expected to collect the absentee slips, record the absentees and the excuse slips, she employs only business-like girls.

These office pages are selected from the study hall lists as they are available for this type of work only during their study periods. This means that different girls must be trained to work, so that there are responsible girls in the office during each period of the school day. This type of work serves as invaluable training for the girls who intend to work in offices after they graduate from high school.

HALL GUIDES

Hall guides at Logan hold a position of honor and trust. Quiet and orderly school corridors are the result of their vigilance.

They are required to examine and sign passes issued either by a faculty member or the office, which permits students to be in the halls during class hours. Although this is their main task, they must also assist strangers in the building and help keep the halls neat and clean.

Hall guides also have a job during noon hours. Then they are required to keep the outside doors locked and the halls clear of pupils.

To become a hall guide, one must have one free period every day in the week and must be selected for honesty, courtesy, and a willingness to be helpful.

There are usually two hall guides posted at their conveniently located tables in every hall, ready to share in the task of maintaining Logan's record of a neat, well-run school.

The school sponsored two outings for the hall guides. In the fall a wiener roast was held at the Onalaska Park and in the spring a picnic was held.

Mr. Roland Larson is the hall guide advisor.

Sound Crew

"Seen but not heard," is the saying which cannot be applied to the boys on the Sound Crew, since these boys are almost never seen but are always heard.

The Sound Crew plays a role in every assembly and every production at Logan. Besides providing "mikes" for the assemblies, running movies in the auditorium, they must also show class room films. Setting up the public address system for games and dances is another of the many jobs they perform. Our Memorial Day program would be ineffective if it were not for the huge amplifiers set up on the building by these boys.

Spectacular glory is surely not for them as they will be rewarded for their services in future years when they profit from their knowledge of electrical apparatus.

Mr. Walter Ranis is the advisor of this service organization.

Stage Crew

The hard working boys who are behind the scenes at every stage performance at Logan constitute the Stage Crew. These boys can always be counted on to do the so-called "dirty work" of the theatrical productions.

For each of the plays these "busy bees" paint the scenery, set it up, operate house and stage lights, and the curtains.

For solo performances they handle the spot lights. They are in constant demand for lighting at dances and community programs.

These boys are a group of dependable, able and ambitious boys who enjoy working with their hands and in the theater. Because of them the performances at Logan are given a professional touch, and success with their aid is inevitable.

Mr. John Harlan has charge of this organization.

JUNIOR Y-TEENS

Each member of the Junior Y-Teens feels that she is an important part of this democratic organization. That feeling prevails because of the friendly air that pervades the meetings. Programs for the meetings are based on the improvement of the member's health, spirit, and knowledge.

Members serve both the Y.W.C.A., with which they are affiliated, and the high school. They perform duties such as ushering at school events, helping with the P.T.A. Coffee, and selling Christmas and greeting cards to replenish the Y-Teen treasury.

Activities enjoyed by Junior Y-Teen members during 1949 included a dinner party at the "Y", a White Elephant sale, Christmas caroling, and a splash party. Members were a part of a world service project when they collected pictures for scrapbooks to be used in schools in Japan.

Mrs. Dewey Terpstra is the adviser of the club. The officers are: Judy Ulrich, president; Gayle Wittenberg, vice-president; Sharon Blank, secretary; and Lois Knobel, treasurer.

SENIOR Y-TEENS

If they wish to lead full and happy lives, the youth of the world must solve many difficult problems. The Y.W.C.A., with the full knowledge of the necessity of integrity in daily life, has built a helpful program for girls. This program is embodied in the Logan club called The Senior Y-Teens.

A typical meeting of the Senior Y-Teens consists of reports on club business, discussions of the current problems of the day, and a survey of issues facing the youth of tomorrow. This year's activities includes social programs as well as school and community services.

Last summer Jackie Klaus and Mary Ann Stark represented Logan at the Y-Teen State Convention.

Friendly advice is given to the club by Miss Elsie Engelke. The officers of this active organization are: Donna Mittlebach, president; Lois Knutson, vice-president; Joyce Ames, secretary; Jackie Klaus, treasurer; and Lois Knutson, historian.

Audubon Club

Feeding our feathered is a project welcomed by members of the Logan Audubon Club. This organization consists of fifteen members with Don Rudy as president, Larry Fleming as vice-president, and Edith Small as the secretary-treasurer. The purpose of the club is to teach respect for nature and its conservation.

Other projects besides the feeding of birds have been the making of bird houses, bird feeders, scrap books, and constructing models of different bird tracks with plaster of Paris.

The highlight of this year's social events was a costume party held for the members. Clever costumes representing various birds and animals were worn. Everything from a horse to a butterfly was represented.

At the end of every year, awards are made to members having the most points and the best projects.

Miss Faye Aldrich is the faculty adviser. The Logan Club is a member of the National Audubon Society which has a membership of more than 7,000,000 boys and girls.

Art Club

Many art-minded Loganites have found an opportunity to practice their painting and drawing in congenial company. They have banded together as the Art Club under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Millam.

This organization varies from twenty to twenty-five members drawn from both the junior and senior high schools. The majority of members this year came from the seventh grade. No one needs to be registered in an art course to be eligible for membership. The president of the Art Club for the 1949 and 1950 school year was Ronald Biehl, the secretary was Donna Mittlebach, while the treasurer was Donald Kowalke.

Several interesting projects took up the time of the club members this year. They made decorations for the Logan P. T. A. coffee. Individual soap carvings were made for exhibition.

Each year the Art Club has a party. This year the party was held in April. A committee of Logan students was in complete charge of all arrangements.

The Junior Red Cross, with its world-wide membership, is the largest youth organization in the world. It can be, and is, instrumental in making for world peace and understanding.

The two Logan councils are proud of the enthusiastic response of the students when they are asked to join the Junior Red Cross. Every student made a contribution and became a member.

In our school, the junior and senior high councils meet separately, but carry on the same projects. They both plan and take part in the assembly that initiates the membership enrollment in the fall of the year. They jointly sponsor the annual school dance. With the money earned, they buy articles for the many gift boxes sent to children in war devastated countries. These boxes are not very large, but one filled with soap, a washcloth, socks, pencils, erasers, note paper pads, a toy, or hair ornament. An enclosed letter blank is very frequently used by the recipient to express a heartfelt thank you.

They contribute with one generous sum to the National Children's Fund, Home for the Aged, and veteran hospitals.

Miss Helen Gilson is the adviser for the Senior Council. The officers are: Ronald Twite, president; Ralph Saley, vice president; Richard Poellinger, secretary; and James Ellis, treasurer.

Miss Vivian Johnson is adviser for the Junior Council. The officers are: Sally Finanger, president; Russell Wolden, vice president; Barbara McCann, secretary; and Marlene Oldenburg, treasurer.

The name Pep Club itself is an apt description of this Logan High organization. Membership in this club is made up of the cheerleaders and students who are willing to back up their school teams vocally.

Although many members constitute this organization, the most conspicuous figures are the cheerleaders clad in red corduroy trousers and red and white warm-up jackets. This year they are Virginia Nelson, Tom Zunker, Barbara Briggs, Caroline Rogstad, Joyce Larson, Norma Schaeffer and Joan Hiler.

One of the most important services of the Pep Club is the chartering of buses for out of town games. All of their other activities are meant to increase school spirit at Logan.

As a democratic organization, the members elect their own officers.

The outstanding Pep Club assembly this year was one in which a jury of students and a judge, Richard Smith, representing Central, tried Mr. Carl Matthusen, Bob Knight, Mr. Harold Blank and Al Hilde. The boys were tried for their conduct on the playing floor. The teachers were tried for the way they treated students. They all were found guilty by the jury and were sentenced to sing "Down by the Old Mill Stream" before the entire student body.

One of the Pep Club's biggest projects is the sponsorship of Homecoming at Logan. Janice Merwin was elected queen of Homecoming this year.

The eighty members of the marching band give a lot of color when they put on their unusual and original half-time shows at football games. They make every Loganite's heart beat faster as they march down the street in their flashy red and white West Point uniforms. They give the students in assembly modern music to which to tap their feet.

However, the Senior Band is really an educational class, meeting daily and studying about the fundamentals of music and playing music that will live for all time. In this capacity, the band fulfills all the basic objectives of education.

For those students who wish to achieve more than the average, there is the opportunity to earn a letter and later, a medal at graduation.

The Band usually makes several trips to out of town games, parades, and concerts.

This year the Band, Orchestra, and Choir broadcast over WKTY on two occasions.

The joint spring concert was one of the best received concerts in Logan's history.

Each year the Band and Orchestra hold an initiation party and a picnic in June.

The Band's repertoire for 1949-50 consisted of the following pieces, plus many other novelties and popular pieces: Rocket Rhythm, Swanee Satire, Tarantella, Finale from New World Symphony, Niobe, Fingal's Cave, Valse des Fleurs, Czech Rhapsody, Andante and March from the Pathetic Symphony, Andante from Beethoven's 1st Symphony, Amparito Roco, Introduction to 3rd Act of Lohengrin.

The Logan High School A Capella Senior Choir, under the direction of Mr. James Coates, is composed entirely of students interested in choral music. Advanced compositions of various nationalities and composers are studied, including folk songs and sacred music as well as music from popular Broadway shows, with special emphasis on unaccompanied music.

One of the goals of the Choir is to provide a substantial background for musical activities after graduation. In this way, former Choir members are a source of good music for generations to come.

Some of the varied types of music studied this year were: "Salvation Is Created," "Were You There?" "Roumanian Rhapsody," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "A Merry Christmas."

The Choir participates in the annual Christmas, Easter and Thanksgiving assemblies. It is also often called upon to perform for various civic organizations. In addition to these opportunities to perform, this year the Choir joined in music assembly programs for Holmen and West Salem High Schools, and two half-hour radio broadcasts over one of the local stations.

Junior Band

The Logan Junior Band compares with the Junior Orchestra in that one of its purposes is to prepare its members for admission into the Senior Band.

This year a new system of recognition was put into practice. Every student had the opportunity to do the work necessary for earning a band letter. These letters are awarded as soon as they are earned. Designs for the letters were worked out and voted upon by the members of both the Junior Band and the Junior Orchestra.

During the fall and spring months, the noise of drums and marching feet resounds outside. As a reward for the better marchers, several are picked to march with the Senior Band at the Central football game. The Junior Band also participates as a unit in the Memorial Day Parade.

Junior Choir

Securing sufficient background for admittance into the Senior Choir is one of the objectives of most Junior Choir members. This is accomplished by experimentation in group and part singing, which really results in a fine sounding organization which is well enough qualified to present public performances.

During the past year, the Junior Choir has sung for the Logan Music Boosters Club, and has taken part in the annual Christmas assembly. Like many other organizations at Logan, it too has proved a benefit to the community.

The outstanding numbers sung by the Junior Choir this year were: "Cherubim Song," "Carol of the Bells," "Ol' Man River," and "Nightfall in Granada."

Directed by Mr. James Coates, the Choir is instructed in the fundamentals of choir music and they study music from popular musical shows as well as famous folk songs and outstanding sacred music.

Senior Orchestra

The Senior Orchestra consists of many of Logan's best all around musicians. It meets three times a week to study and play all types of orchestra music. Those members who wish to achieve beyond the average, have the opportunity to earn a letter and medal at graduation.

Annual events in which they take part are the PTA concert, assembly concerts, baccalaureate and graduation exercises, and the spring concert. This year for the first time in its history, the orchestra took concert trips to nearby towns.

The Orchestra's repertoire for 1949-50 consisted of the following: Finale Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, Iphigenia In Aulis Overture, Pizzicato Polka by Strauss, Swiss Musical Clock, Turkey In the Straw, Merry Widow Selection, Voices of Spring Waltz, Over the Waves, Clear Track Polka, Serenade from Student Prince, Pavanne by Morton Gould, Parade of the Wooden Soldiers and Allegro Appassionato for Cello and Orchestra by Saint-Saens.

Junior Orchestra

The Junior Orchestra is in its second year of life. Founded last year to give students a foundation for the Senior Orchestra, it has come to be one of the most important of all music organizations.

The Orchestra members work for orchestra letters. To earn a letter they must have a total of seventy-five points. Fifty of these points must be "service points," that is, points earned by doing a service for the organization. Such things as parades, concerts and solo performances earn service points. The other twenty-five points must be "page points." These are earned by passing music, scales, or other material for the director. Of course, there are ways to lose points. Points are deducted for chewing gum and talking. This is a very effective system of award. The director of this group is Mr. Frank Italiano.

Organ

At many assemblies and auditorium programs, pupils perform on the Logan organ. Any Logan student who displays sufficient talent may gain permission to take lessons and practice on this specially built instrument.

The pipe organ was a gift of the Logan Alumni Association to the students of Logan High School. Dances were held by the Alumni Association to pay for the organ.

At the present time organ lessons are given by Miss Evangeline Vold and Mrs. C. D. Wollan. Miss Vold teaches the beginners while Mrs. Wollan helps the more advanced students. Barbara Herried and Anne Fletcher are the advanced students while the beginners are Dottie Lehmeier, Colette Jolivette and Gayle Wittenberg.

Mr. Walter Ranis is responsible for the maintenance of the organ. La Crosse Logan is the only high school in the state having an organ of this type.

Swing Band

Jump tunes or slow smooth ones are played equally well by the Logan Swing Band. This organization is composed of Logan students and is sponsored by the La Crosse Recreation Department.

These talented young musicians enjoy performing. They were organized to play for Jive Hive recreation dances held in the Logan gym on Saturday evenings, but they also travel to other schools and exchange dances with them. This year they appeared in a variety show on the Logan stage.

A professional touch is given to all of the music they play. It is truly a popular band playing popular music.

Practicing was done under the direction of Mr. Frank Italiano and Mr. William Baker.

Baton Club

Adding color and pep to the tuneful music played by the band, the Logan majorette and her group of twirlers head all the parades of Logan marchers. This vitality, while it appears natural, is all a part of long practice sessions held by the members of the Baton Club which is organized in two parts.

One is the beginners class which meets every Monday. During their meeting they practice their old twirls and learn new ones. In addition to this they do a lot of marching.

The officers of the beginning twirlers are: Lois Lord, president; Doris Bugbee, vice-president; Ann Wartinbee, secretary; and Jeannie Blank, treasurer. Mary Maier and Rita Schultenhelm teach this class.

In the advanced class are all the advanced twirlers and band majors. They must pay dues, attend all meetings, and fill all requirements before they are ready for Junior or Senior Band. The Drum Major is in charge of all baton classes. Teachers of the classes must be able to pass a test given by the Drum Major.

The officers in the advanced class are: Mary Maier, president; and Rita Schultenhelm, secretary-treasurer.

LC Club

Logan athletes form an honorary organization called the L. C. Club. This club consists of boys who have won letters in various sports activities throughout the year, such as football, basketball, track and tennis.

Although this organization is not active in the sense of holding meetings it does have high standards which all members must uphold. These include the promotion of sportsmanship, clean athletics, clean speech, and a feeling of fellowship among the athletes of the school.

To earn an L. C. letter a boy must attend all regular practices, participate in a certain number of games, and be morally as well as physically fit. They are given these letters at a school assembly honoring Logan award winners.

Mr. Ray Nibbee is the director of this organization.

STRING QUARTETTE

String Quartette

Probably the busiest organization at Logan is the String Quartet. It has brought the finest talent of Logan to more people than any other group. The quartet has provided entertainment for the Business Men's Club, Caledonia Street Merchants, Lions Club, athletic banquets, teas for many womens clubs and church groups, and performed at school assemblies.

Because a string quartet is small it provides each member with invaluable experience in being self-reliant. It, too, gives the group an excellent opportunity to meet many people. The group has played music ranging from Victor Herbert through musical comedy and operetta to classical.

Every member of the quartet is a Logan Orchestra letter winner. To make the programs of the quartet more varied, each member is able to perform several solos whenever asked. Those who took part in these activities this year are Carol Smith and Sally Hendrickson, violin; Herman Allmaras, viola; and Bert Phillips, cello. Piano accompaniments were done by Barbara Herried. The adviser of the group is Mr. Frank Italiano.

Football

Crashing linemen do not receive credit for the terrific rough and tumble football it takes to spring the ball carrier through the forward wall. All the eyes in the grandstand are focused on the ball carrier, so the lineman is often the forgotten man.

The Logan line was outstanding throughout this year's football season. Elwood Harebo was a steady player at center, Jack Harbaugh, Merlin Eggen, Roger Vier, Robert Roth, and Paul Lang deserve credit for wonderful tackle play throughout the season. Guards that deserve credit are Ronald Cotton, James Belke, and Carlton Timms. The outstanding ends of the season were Robert Otto, Robert Knight, Donald Johnson and Jack Smith.

This year the Logan football team had a very good season. The Rangers finished with five wins, two ties and one loss under the coaching of Mr. Rod Martin.

Golf

Although not a major sport at Logan, golf offers something to those participating that other sports do not.

Under the able coaching of Mr. Arthur Bronson, the squad is laying a basic foundation for an enjoyable pastime in later years.

The schools on the golf team's schedule are Central, Aquinas, Winona, and Eau Claire. This year's season was highlighted by a trip to Madison to participate in the State Tournament.

Tennis

When spring comes and winter goes the Logan tennis men prepare for a tough season. They play Winona, Viroqua, Eau Claire, Central, and Aquinas high schools this year.

Under the coaching of Mr. Earl Kolcinski, the team had an active 1949 season. They were defeated by a narrow margin in several exciting encounters. Lloyd Jenks was the only one of the team members who will not be back this year. He graduated.

The year 1950 brings to a close the eleventh year of the Girls' Athletic Association. Its purpose is to provide an organization so that all Logan girls may take part in intramural sports. The G. A. A. has been divided into two groups, the one, Senior G. A. A., consisting of girls from grades nine to twelve, and the other, Junior G.A.A., which consists of girls from the seventh and eighth grades. The adviser of Senior G. A. A. is Miss Ardith Inman. The Junior G. A. A. is managed by Miss Eloda Rumsey.

There are many sports in which the girls may participate. In the fall there is speedball and volleyball, with kickball for those in Junior G. A. A. The sports during the winter months are basketball and badminton. The spring sports are softball, tennis and archery.

The girls' goal in G.A.A. is to receive a letter in their junior year and a pin in their senior year. To earn a letter, a girl must participate in at least three sports a year, except in her Junior year when she must either participate in four sports, or be an officer and take part in three Playing basketball, volleyball and other games are not the only interests of the G. A. A. members. They also plan parties, hikes, and outings of various types.

Basketball

Speed, accuracy and team play make basketball one of the outstanding sports of the year. This sport is held during the months of January and February. A group of forty-five girls turned out for the mixed class tournament. The student manager was Barbara Burr.

The mixed class tournament consists of five teams with nine girls on each team. Those on the winning team include: Captain Myrle Craig, Sue Fingerhut, Jean Breidal, Alma Tabbert, Gerry Limpert, Georgina Richmond, and Arliss Shaeffer. This team had six wins, one tie and one loss.

After the mixed tournament, a class team tournament was held. In this tournament, each grade team plays every other team. The Junior class team proved to be the champions with five wins and no losses. Those on the Junior team were Barbara Burr, Evelyn Dennison, Dorothy Loughan, Gloria Freng, Virginia Nelson, Sue Fingerhut and Gerry Limpert.

Outstanding scorers in the two basketball tournaments are: Myrle Craig, 82 points; Carol Dobrunz, 79 points; Jean Breidal, 78 points; Carol DeLaney, 77 points; Evelyn Dennison, 62 points; Joyce Larson, 55 points; Kappy Miller, 47 points; Marilyn Limpert, 41 points.

G.A.A. Girls enjoy just plain resting once in a while—especially if they have food to eat.

*Good luck

Up and Over!

Volleyball

The first sport of the winter to attract the interest of G. A. A. girls is volleyball. This sport is played with six to eight girls on each side of a volleyball net. In this sport, one must have a quick eye and be fast on her feet. Like the other sports, both mixed class tournaments and class tournaments are held. Evelyn Dennison was elected head of volleyball.

The team winning the mixed class tournament was the Hoosier Hot Shots. Players on this team were: Joyce Larson, Marilyn Limpert, Barbara Briggs, Joan Kenyon, Arliss Shaeffer, Donna Sackmaster and LaVonne Herlitzka.

After this tournament, the class tournament was held. The Juniors proved to be the champions in this tournament. Those on the Junior team were: Captain Barbara Burr, Evelyn Dennison, Alice Jenks, Barbara Briggs, Jenette Cram and Dorothy Loughan.

Each year volleyball is becoming a more popular sport with the G. A. A. girls, as each year more girls are turning out for this sport.

Badminton

The last sport of the winter months, but by far not the least popular, is badminton. This game is played with rackets which are considerably lighter in weight than tennis rackets.

In play, a bird is hit back and forth over a six foot net. The game can be played by two players or four, as singles or doubles. The game at times becomes very fast and has plenty of action.

Many girls take part in this sport. Last year forty girls participated in the doubles tournament. Until this year only doubles have been played, but this year under the direction of Miss Ardith Inman, a singles badminton tournament was held. The competition was in the form of a ladder tournament. On the ladder, those in the lower ranks challenged those in the upper ranks. After several weeks of challenging and hard playing, the winner was decided.

Last year's winners were Barbara Burr and Evelyn Dennison, the runnersup were Marilyn Nelson and Joyce Larson.

Dear David:

Remember all the fun we've had in Miss Mahoney's English Class. She really got mad at Ruth, Bev., and I. That's the only class I've been in with you so I haven't got much to say so I'll just wish a swell kid lotsa luck in the future years at Hagen.
